◆ ELECTRICITY RATES TO CLIMB IN APRIL

The mild weather this winter is having at least one negative effect. TVA says the wholesale price of electricity will go up 3% in April to reflect an expected dryer-than-usual month. TVA's cheapest power is produced by its hydroelectric dams. A TVA spokesman says with less hydro-generation in the forecast, the cost of purchasing power is expected to be higher. The typical residential utility bill is expected to increase $3.25.
