State & Local News

◆ THE LADY BUGS ARE INVADING!

You've probably seen those yellow, orange, or red bugs with black spots on your window screens or on the side of your house this week. Those are Lady Bugs. The cold weather we've had in recent days is causing them to try to seek shelter inside. Experts say you can keep them outside by sealing up as many cracks and openings as possible. If they do get inside your house, the best thing you can do is suck them up with a vacuum cleaner.

◆ COMMUNITY NEWS YOU CAN USE:

- ✓ The Athens Kiwanis Club will meet Friday at noon in the Glen Lowe Dining Room at TWC. The speaker this week is Pam Purdue. She will give an update on the Tri-County Center.
- ✓ TVA will conduct an emergency preparedness drill at the Watts Bar Nuclear Plant today. The warning sirens will be activated.

National & International News

◆ Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius has apologized for the disastrous rollout of the health insurance marketplace website built by the government, but vowed the problems would be fixed by the end of November. Sebelius is responsible for the implementation of key parts of the federal health care law. Senator Lamar Alexander of Tennessee is calling for her to resign.

◆ According to the Washington Post, NSA whistleblower Edward Snowden says the National Security Agency has secretly broken into the main communications links that connect Yahoo and Google data centers around the world. NSA sends millions of records every day from Yahoo and Google internal networks to data warehouses at the agency's Fort Meade, Maryland headquarters. The data collected could indicate who sent or received the emails and when, as well as the content, such as text, audio and video.

◆ Saudi authorities have detained a columnist who supported ending the country's ban on women driving. The columnist was interrogated about his role in a campaign launched by reformers seeking the right of women to drive in the ultra-conservative Muslim kingdom. A human rights group in New York is calling for his release.

◆ Teen pregnancies in the developing world are declining, but more than 7 million girls under the age of 18 are still giving birth each year in those countries, according to a United Nations report.

Athens, Tennessee

Punting, Passing, Kicking

Punt, Pass & Kick winners from the Athens area participated in the Chattanooga P, P & K Sectional event last Sunday. Several of the young people placed in the top three of their age division, with Andy Sullins winning the 8-9 age division. Jamison Slinger, Athens Parks Program Coordinator, says "I am very proud of the youth we took to Chattanooga to compete. They all performed extremely well and represented the City of Athens at a high caliber." (The Athens participants are shown in the photo below)

Obituaries

Kenneth George McNutt, age 86, of Farragut and formerly of Athens died last Monday. He moved to Knoxville in 1964 when Mayfield Dairy opened a branch there. He retired as a Mayfield branch manager after 38 years. Graveside services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at McMinn Memory Gardens. Click Funeral Home Farragut Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

Stephen Patrick Conner, age 24, of Knoxville died Monday at UT Medical Center. A funeral service will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at the Latter-day Saints Church of Athens with visitation from 6 to 8 p.m. Thursday at Bordwine Funeral Home.

HALLOWEEN SAFETY TIPS

The Athens Fire Department has issued some Halloween safety tips:

1. If your child is wearing a mask, make sure the eye holes are large enough for them to see out clearly.
2. It is safer to use a flashlight or battery-operated candles in a Jack-o-lantern. If you do use a real candle, place the lit pumpkins well away from anything that can burn.
3. Children should always go trick-or-treating with a responsible adult.
4. Children should stay together as a group when walking house-to-house.
5. Review how to cross a street, reminding your child to look left, right, and left again to be sure no cars are coming.
6. Check your child's treats before allowing them to be eaten.
