◆ FISHING DERBY RESCHEDULED FOR SUNDAY

TWRA has stocked the pond at Athens Regional Park with more than 800 trout. The pond will be the site of the annual Kids fishing Derby, which has been rescheduled for Sunday afternoon due to severe weather forecast for Saturday. Registration is at 1 p.m. and fishing will be from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday for kids 12 and under. Two of the trout have been tagged. One is worth $500 and the other is good for $250.

NATIONAL & WORLD NEWS

◆ David Petraeus, former CIA Director, received a sentence of two-years probation and a $100,000 fine after he admitted he leaked classified information to his mistress, Paula Broadwell.

◆ Michael Brown's family is seeking unspecified damages for his death in a civil wrongful death lawsuit. Brown was fatally shot by a Ferguson, Missouri police officer last summer.

◆ Australian wellness guru Belle Gibson reportedly built her career around claims she survived several different kinds of cancer with alternative medicine. Gibson confessed that it was all a lie.

THP & ERLANGER URGE SEAT BELT USE

The Tennessee Highway Patrol and Georgia State Patrol are teaming up with Erlanger Medical Center to urge motorists to wear seat belts to reduce trauma cases and fatal crashes across the region. Since 2012, 1,163 people have been injured after not wearing a seat belt in vehicular crashes across the 12-county Chattanooga District of the THP. So far this year, there have been 86 unrestrained motorists injured in crashes. From 2012 to 2014, 87 children in the Chattanooga District were admitted to Erlanger's pediatric unit for injuries from not being restrained. In the Chattanooga District, 142 unrestrained vehicle occupants have been killed since 2012. Dr. Donald Barker, adult trauma surgeon at Erlanger, says the number of injuries from vehicle crashes could be reduced significantly if motorists would just buckle up. The THP now has a rollover crash simulator, which demonstrates what can happen to vehicle occupants who are unrestrained.
