Local & State News

◆ IRAQ WAR VETERAN IS LINCOLN DAY SPEAKER

Iraq War veteran and State Senator Mark Green will headline the 2016 Lincoln Day Dinner to be held on Tuesday, July 26th, at the Tennessee Wesleyan Cafeteria. Congressman Chuck Fleischmann and Tennessee Republican Party Chairman Ryan Haynes will also speak. Green came to Tennessee as an Army special operations flight surgeon assigned to the 160th Special Ops Aviation Regiment. He planned and flew on some of the War on Terror's most covert operations. His most memorable mission was the capture of Saddam Hussein. Green actually interviewed Hussein for six hours on the night of his capture. Tickets for this year's Lincoln Day Dinner are $30.

◆ Mark Gwyn Reappointed as Director of TBI

✓ Tennessee Governor Bill Haslan has reappointed Mark Gwyn as director of the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation (TBI). Gwyn has led Tennessee's lead investigative law enforcement agency for 12 years. He joined the TBI as an agent in 1988 and previously served as a patrol officer for the McMinnville Police Department.

NATIONAL-WORLD NEWS

- ◆ Today an inmate took an officer's gun and shot four people, including two fatally, while he was being moved from a holding cell inside the Berrien County Courthouse in St. Joseph, Michigan. The inmate was taken down by a bailiff along with several other officers.
- ◆ District Attorney Hillar Moore of East Baton Rouge has recused himself in the Alton Sterling shooting investigation. He cited a relationship with the parents of one of two officers placed on leave after their involvement in the fatal shooting last week in Baton Rouge, Louisiana of 37-year-old Sterling.
- ◆ Jimmy Andrew Suggs, 28, and Zackary Ryan Kuykendall, 26, were arrested Sunday for causing the Cold Springs Fire in Colorado, a blaze that has grown to almost 600 acres. They started a campfire but "did not ensure that the fire was properly extinguished."

A DEADLY YEAR FOR BOATING ACCIDENTS

Twelve people have died in Tennessee boating accidents so far this year. There were two boating-related fatalities over the recent July 4th holiday weekend. Both of those incidents involved victims falling off boats. The Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency says one of the easiest ways to prevent drowning while boating is to wear a PFD (personal floatation device). The TWRA also says proper lighting for night boating is extremely important. Anyone planning to spend time on the waterways should also check the weather forecast first.
